"Art for Charity"
(Contribution for the Bicycle Project)

Photography means pure happiness to me, and it is one of the most important aspects of my life. Exercising my creativity and achieving its maximum potential gives me immense satisfaction.

I strongly rely on my visuals to communicate and express what is on my mind. I feel deeply connected to the world and places I have been to, through this unique medium.

"My future plans include photographing with undying passion and trying to reach out to as many people through my work.
